

What The World Owes Martin Luther

To realize what mankind owes to Luther for the work of the Reformation, we must look at what the world was when he threw down his challenge to the existing sacerdotal system, and compare it with the world as it has been and is, since.

The Vatican Connection To Islam

You've been told that Catholicism and Islam are rivals. But what if they were never truly enemies? What if Islam, far from being Rome's greatest opponent, was actually one of its greatest creations?

It is inconceivable that civilization can survive if the world is to allow nations, races and religious groups to be exterminated. This world must be made safe for a diversity of nations, religions, races and cultures. Genocide has destroyed some 20,000,000 persons in the last fifty years—the world must face the problem of genocide in the twentieth century.

It is undeniable that Pavelic up until his death was protected by the Vatican and that even on his deathbed he received the papal blessing. Pope Pius XII and Stepinac always considered him a practicing Catholic. Therefore he and his Ustashi were protected and are still being protected by the Vatican, because of their devotion to the Roman Catholic Church, despite the odious crimes they committed.

In Darwin (Australia) a Mission Worker was seeking to lead an immigrant to Christ. The immigrant said to the Protestant Missionary, “I am not interested to discuss religion with you, but I am going to tell you something. We had our instructions, before we came into this country, to be ready at a given signal to murder every Australian man and woman who refused to submit to our holy Mother the Church.”

There remained only one solution for Pavelic and his henchmen—escape. The patriotic song “Za Dom Spretni” (Ready for Fatherland), no longer echoed throughout Croatia, where the only idea that obsessed countless people was for “everybody to run who could.”

Catholic propaganda has insisted that Stepinac was put in prison for his anti-Communist activities. Without in any way defending Communist justice, the writer is obliged to state for the record and emphasize that Stepinac was really tried for his collaboration with Ustashi and Nazis during the war.

Genocide in Satellite Croatia Chapter VII. More Massacres and Forced Conversions Part 1.

Often violent protestations have been mentioned. Cries rose up from all parts of the world against the barbaric Ustashi and the scandalous support lent by the Catholic clergy.

Genocide in Satellite Croatia Chapter VI. The Death Camps

That the conversions to Catholicism and the exterminations took place simultaneously, after a well-defined plan, is shown not only by the words and behavior of the priests and the members of Croatian religious orders, but by the promotions and grades which they accumulated: priest, officer and police agent, and there were large numbers of them from the very first day that the satellite Croatian State was founded.

Genocide in Satellite Croatia Chapter V. Massacres and Forced Conversions

There were special bands who performed the massacres, and are probably still doing so, actually led and incited by Catholic priests and monks. This is more than confirmed. There was a monk near Travnik with the crucifix in one hand who was inciting a band of people whom he had organized and was leading. This happened in the first days after my arrival there. "This, therefore, means the renewal of medieval times," remarked the correspondent. "Yes, but made worse by machine guns, hand grenades, dynamite, barrels of gasoline and other means of terrorism."

Genocide in Satellite Croatia Chapter IV. The Massacres Begin

“This state, our country, is only for Croats and for no one else. There are no ways and means which we Croats will not use to make our country truly ours, and to cleanse it of all Orthodox Serbs. All those who came into our country 300 years ago must disappear. We make no attempt to conceal our intention. It is the policy of our state, and during its realization we shall do nothing else save follow the principles of the Ustashi.”

Genocide in Satellite Croatia Chapter III. The Fall of Yugoslavia and the Creation of the Satellite State of Croatia

The capitulation of April 18, 1941 was immediately followed by the slicing up of the Yugoslav state, and it would seem that the vanquishers took a special savagery in tearing apart what the Treaty of Versailles had united into a single nation.

History of the concordat or agreement between the pope and Yugoslavia concerning the legal status of the Roman Catholic Church and the political situation just before the start of World War 2.

Genocide in Satellite Croatia Chapter I. The International Conspiracy Against Yugoslavia

The founding of the Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes (Yugoslavia) in 1918 aroused considerable jealousy among some of the neighboring countries. All the old motives for envy were sharpened as the government faced the difficulties of internal policy in the founding of a really national state. Hungary, thenceforward separated from Austria, coveted the fertile land of the Vojvodina to the North of Belgrade; Bulgaria continued to revindicate Macedonia in Southern Serbia; while Fascist Italy dreamed of increasing her “vital living space” by annexing Dalmatia, once ruled over by Venice.

Exaggerated nationalism, fascism and communism, as well as political and religious fanaticism, paved the way for the Second World War, thus bringing society down to a lower level of moral civilization, characterized by an incredible intolerance which was thought to have vanished with the Middle Ages.

The terrified people that were fleeing the European Continent en masse, were fleeing the oppression and persecutions of Romanism. Even the afflicted people of England who were fleeing to America, were fleeing from nothing less than a Church that had inherited and retained all the corrupt doctrines and severe intolerance from the Mother Church of Rome; but denied the pope as its head.
