

Kamala, Carville & the Doctrine of Protection & Obedience

Trump is likely to win the election, but if Jesuits were behind the previous assassination attempts, will they let him live? If not, Catholic JD Vance would become POTUS!

Who or What is Leading Kamala Harris?

Normally I don't want to talk about individual politicians on this website. Many of them are unsaved and are only following the agenda of elite people over them. But I was shocked to see this meme of Kamala Harris being possibly possessed by a demon entity! It does make sense when you think about it knowing how she talks and laughs.

I found the meme on Facebook and reposted it on my timeline to see the reactions. Because of the favorable reactions to it, I felt led to share it here too.

I wondered if there is any confirmation of the demon named Gyllou. I found it on <https://www.creativespirits.net/gello/>

Here are some quotes from that article:

Gello (Greek: Γελλώ), in Greek mythology, is a female demon or revenant (One who returns after death. ) who threatens the reproductive cycle by causing infertility, spontaneous abortion, and infant mortality. By the Byzantine era, the gelloudes (γελλούδες) were considered a class of beings. Women believed to be under demonic possession by gelloudes might stand trial or be subjected to exorcism. Gyllou, Gylou, Gillo, or Gelu are some of its alternate forms.

Gello possibly derives from Gallû, a Babylonian–Assyrian demon believed to bring sickness and death. The theory was advanced by Carl Frank (1881–1945) and supported by M.L. West, Walter Burkert, and others. The name is also preserved in the later word ghoul.

Greek folk etymology links the word to the root gel-, “grin, laugh,” in the sense of mocking or grimacing, like the expression often found on the face of the Gorgon, to which Barb linked the reproductive demons in origin. Such demons are often associated with or said to come from the sea, and demonologies identify Gyllou with Abyzou, whose name is related to abyssos, the abyss or “deep.”

In my opinion, America is in deep trouble for even considering her to be the next president of the United States! None of her policies are in accordance with the Bible. And she calls herself a Baptist?! Ref:
